Writers who have some publishing record, or are specialists in their field, are invited to apply for a place at the Michael King Writers' Centre Residential Workshop.

Now in its third year, the Residential Workshop, which is limited to 24 writers, will focus on writing the Māori world. Writers will hear leading authors and publishers discuss their experiences in research, writing in te reo Māori, translation, adaptation, history, biography and book and web publishing. There will be opportunities to discuss issues with speakers and to report on current projects in a focused but relaxed environment.

Time: Midday Friday 17th to midday Sunday 19th February 2012.

Cost: $430.00 plus GST, including all meals and two nights' accommodation. Payment is due following acceptance, half by 15th October and the balance by 15th November 2011.

Closing date for applications: 31st August 2011. Please include a writing CV. Registration forms will be sent to those accepted by 18th September 2011.
